

What each framework actually asks you for

One supplier questionnaire, twelve rulebooks. The rows are the data you get asked for. The columns are who is asking.

How to read this

- Normally asked
- Higher tiers or certain sectors only
- Blank — not asked

- A filled dot means the framework normally asks for it. A hollow dot means it applies only at higher tiers, to larger organisations, or in certain sectors.
- Evergreen is shown at Level 1. Levels 2 to 4 pull in most of the NHS 2027 column, plus modern slavery and third-party validation.
- The EU Voluntary Standard column splits across its Basic and Comprehensive Modules. Only the Basic Module sets the value chain cap, so items marked hollow may still be requested by a CSRD-reporting customer.
- SECR and ESOS mainly bite on larger companies. They appear here because your customers in scope of them will pass the data request down to you.

Answer it once, not twelve times

The overlap is the point. Capline captures your operational data once and reuses it across every form that lands — with a source document behind every figure.
